Panelists tie ethics, terror war

The Naval War College (NWC) held its annual Professional Ethics Conference last Tuesday at Spruance Hall. The theme for this year's conference is "Ethics and the Terror War."

Originating in 1988, the Ethics Conference has evolved into a forum to discuss ethical and moral issues facing the U.S. military today.

The keynote speaker was Dr. Michael Ignatieff, professor and director of the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy, Kennedy School of Government, Harvard.

Rear Adm. Rodney P. Rempt, President of NWC, opened the conference Tuesday morning on the topic, "Challenges of the Terror War."

Dr. Thomas B. Grasse, editor, Naval War College Press, followed, speaking on, "Ethical Foundations, Military Virtues"

Morning panel discussions focused on "Ethics & The Terror War: The Global Challenge."

The moderator was Dr. Thomas Nichols, Chair, Strategy and Policy, NWC, with panelists Dr. James Turner Johnson, Rutgers University; Dr. Jean Bethke Elshtain, University of Chicago; Dr. Yoram Dinstein, Stockton Chair of International Law, NWC.

After lunch panelists discussed "Ethics & The Terror War: The Domestic Challenge." Moderator was Dr. Mack Owens, Jr., Associate Dean.

Coddington Cove restricted, closed to private watercraft

By RICHARD ALEXANDER
Navalog editor

MIDDLETOWN — All of Coddington Cove, from the tip of the stone breakwater north of Stillwater Basin to Coddington Point behind Building 1112, Naval Station Newport, is now off limits to all unauthorized boats and swimmers.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has granted a request by Navy Region Northeast to establish the restricted area around the Navy piers and Stillwater Basin.

"Vessels, with the exception of law enforcement, Coast Guard, military and NAVSTA vessels, are prohibited from entering the area, except with the written permission of the NAVSTA Commanding Officer," said project manager Richard Roach of the Army Corps of Engineers, New England District Regulatory Division.

The restricted area is roped off. Senior Chief Electrician's Mate Mark McCutcheon, Port Operations officer, said a 3/4-inch polypropylene line with blue and white floats stretches 3,800 feet across the mouth of the cove.

"The line is composed of three sections. The midpoint has a 'door' or access for arriv-

NWC graduates 74 in November class

A number of things...

Anthony J. Principi, Secretary of Veterans Affairs, will address the 74 graduates of the Naval War College during ceremonies today in Spruance Hall Auditorium.

Mr. Principi is a 1967 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and a combat-decorated Vietnam veteran. During the war, he served in command of a river patrol unit in Vietnam's Mekong Delta.

"It's a pleasure to have the Honorable Principi join us for this prestigious occasion," said Adm. Rodney P. Rempt, President, Naval War College. "His military and civilian service and dedication are admirable qualities and we are pleased to have him speak to our graduating class."

The NWC November Class of 2002 includes 22 senior officers and federal government civilians in the College of Naval Warfare and 45 mid-career U.S. officers and federal government civilians in the College of Naval Command and Staff, and seven military officers and federal government civilians in the College of Distance Education.

All graduates will receive master of arts degrees in National Security and Strategic Studies.

Marines mark 227th birthday

By CYNTHIA C. FLEMING
NACC Newport PAO

The Naval Ambulatory Care Center, Newport, hosted members of the U.S. Marine Corps Detachment to mark the 227th anniversary of the corps with a ceremonial cake-cutting last Friday.

Narrated by Marine Sgt. Angel Pineda, the ceremony began with the National Anthem, followed by an invocation by Chaplain Conrad Targonski of the Naval Chaplains School.

The Secretary of the Navy's message was read by Chief Hospital Corpsman (SW/FMF) Rodney S. Ruth; and the Commandant of the Marine Corps message for the birthday, Nov. 10, was read by Lance Cpl. Jesse Landrie.

Col. Kenneth E. Jacobsen from the Naval War College was the guest speaker, and presented the Col. Stan Pratt Award, a book of the complete history of the U.S. Marine Corps from its inception, to Hospital Corpsman Second Class Ryan J. Paul, Fleet Marine Force corpsman at King Hall, Naval Education and Training Center.

The late Col. Pratt was the se-

Personalized letters available from Santa

Make a child's Christmas extra special by requesting a personal letter from Santa Claus!

It's easy to do: simply contact Jeff Dunn, the Military Youth Activities director at Gym 109 and provide the child's name and other information needed to customize the letter (teacher's name, special gifts wanted, etc.)

Provide a stamped envelope, and Santa will address it and send the child a personalized letter. Children's information can be dropped off at the director's office in Gym 109 beginning Monday, Nov. 25. Letters will be mailed Dec. 9 to 18 to ensure arrival before Christmas.

For more information call 841-7196.

Navy cable to carry SECDEF rebroadcast

Newport Naval Cable Television will carry a rebroadcast of the Nov. 12 satellite feed of the Pentagon Town Hall meeting with the Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld, on Monday, Nov. 18, 10 a.m.

The panel includes Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Wolfowitz, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. Richard Myers, and Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. Peter Pace.

Announcements

Fleet and Family Support closed after Thanksgiving

Because of the Thanksgiving holiday, the Fleet and Family Support Center, Building 1260, will be closed on Friday, Nov. 29. If there is an emergency, please contact the Naval Station Newport Quarterdeck at 841-3456.

Thrift Shop to offer Active Duty Only night

The Newport Navy-Marine Corps Relief Thrift Shop will open for Active Duty personnel only on Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 7 to 9 p.m.

This will allow active duty personnel (any local command) who cannot shop during normal open hours to come in and browse and see what is available.

Of special interest will be military uniforms and footwear. There are also small kitchen appliances and utensils, books, and men's and women's clothing.

The Thrift Shop will be closed Thursday, Nov. 28, for Thanksgiving. The donation bin will remain open.

The shop is in Building 305 at Meyerkord Avenue and Peary Street.

Call 846-7961 or 841-7342 for more information.

Pharmacy hints delays as equipment installed

The Naval Ambulatory Care Center, Newport, Pharmacy will be installing new equipment the week of Dec. 9 that may result in longer wait periods for beneficiaries.

The new technology will enhance patient safety by reducing the risk of medication errors.

NACC said if wait times are increased at all, it will only be temporary until the staff members get proficient in utilizing the new technology.

Gym 109 lot repaving slated

Naval Station Newport will continue with road paving projects this month, the Public Works Department office has announced.

The west side parking lot by Gym 109 was resurfaced this week, and was barricaded as of Monday.

The east side parking lot by Gym 109 and across from the Newport Chalet will be resurfaced on Nov. 18-19, and will be barricaded Nov. 17.

The southern parking lot by Gym 109 will be resurfaced on Nov. 25-26 and will be barricaded Nov. 24. Naval Station personnel should use alternate parking areas, and the temporary Katy Field parking lot.

"Qvasivecchio."

The name is a play on words using the Italian word, vecchio, for old.

The result is art that looks quasi-old, but is painstakingly crafted by hand by Ruth Ann Petree.

Petree is the owner of Qvasivecchio Studio and Gallery, a showroom/gallery/workshop that displays and sells unique and upscale quality gifts.

She is a New Jersey native who learned the art of mosaics and old methods of painting in Rome and Ravenna, Italy.

She lived there with her family when her husband, Capt. Vincent Mocini, was stationed there. He is currently director of the Naval Command College at the Naval War College.

Workshop offers help with job applications

Dust off those old resumes and join us at the Fleet and Family Support Center on Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and learn about federal job applications.

Learn how to catalog and describe your skills in a reader-friendly way. Learn about the various ways you may apply for federal jobs, including how to use the New Resumex system.

Step-by-step coverage of sample forms will be reviewed, as well as computer programs for federal applications. Registration is required and may be made by calling 841-2283.

Sponsor training—Come to the Fleet and Family Support Center on Thursday, Nov. 21, from 9 to 11 a.m., to learn the significance you can have on your sponsoree's move. This training provides valuable information for individuals who will act as sponsors or department representatives selecting sponsors.

Because the military spouse also plays such a vital role in the Sponsor Program, all spouses are invited and encouraged to attend. Please call 841-2283 to register for this important training.

Let's balance that checkbook—A representative from the Navy Federal Credit Union will provide you with the "ins and outs" of checkbook balancing at the Fleet and Family Support Center on Tuesday, Dec. 3, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Learn how to attain your financial goals by transforming your checkbook into a personal financial planning tool. Hear how you can reduce your checking account fees, avoid bouncing checks, better manage your cash flow, and safeguard yourself and your money. For information and to register for this workshop, call 841-2283.

Manage that holiday stress—The holiday season is fast approaching, and although this can be a joyous time, it also can be a time of stress.

The Fleet and Family Support Center is offering a workshop entitled, "Managing Holiday Stress," on Thursday, Dec. 5, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Here some suggestions to help make your holiday season less stressful.

Registration is required and may be made by calling 841-2283.

Long term care — Long-term care is a phrase heard frequently. A Navy Federal Credit Union representative will be at the Fleet and Family Support Center on Tuesday, Dec. 10, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., to explain what long-term care coverage is and why it is important.

Find out your options and some common misconceptions. Call 841-2283.

is then closed again after the ship passes," he said.

The restriction is made under the authority of Section 7 of the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1917 and Chapter XIX of the Army Appropriation Act of 1991.

Roach said the purpose of the regulation is to create an area of separation between general navigation on the East Passage, and military (Navy) ships berthed at NAVSTA.

The U.S. Coast Guard District One, Aids to Navigation Division in Boston, will issue a Notice to Mariners advising commercial and pleasure boaters of the new restriction.

Before the attack on the USS Cole, Coddington Cove was popular with seasonal private boaters who would sail around the piers for a close-up view of visiting warships and the decommissioned aircraft carriers Forrestal and Saratoga.

Security Operations Branch officer, Chief Lewis Scherdt, said NAVSTA Security boats have since curtailed the practice. There is an exception for local lobstermen.

Veterans Day offers pause for appreciation

By RICHARD ALEXANDER

Navalog editor

Veterans Day events traditionally are held on Nov. 11 at 11 a.m. — the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month to mark the end of World War I and Armistice Day.

But Portsmouth American Legion Post 18 saw Nov. 11, 1918, and Sept. 11, 2001, as two significant historical events and brought them together in brief ceremonies in Portsmouth Town Hall. The ceremony began at 8:46 a.m., coinciding with the crash of the first airliner into the World Trade Center.

Post Commander Bob Kain said it was the American Legion's desire to add more immediacy to the traditional observance with the current war on terrorism in Afghanistan and the possible war against Iraq.

"Once more the United States is taking care of the world's dirty laundry," he said. "Wherever people cried out, Americans went and fought, fed and cared for, and sometimes died."

Kain, an Army veteran, said he hates war with its suffering and waste of human life, and now worries about the future for his three young sons, ages 17, 21 and 25.

"We are here today to honor and commemorate those who dropped the hammer and saw, or the ledger and paper, and interrupted their daily lives, and went off to war."

Free men and women have the responsibility to protect the weak and disadvantaged, he said.

After indoor ceremonies, a wreath was carried to the Portsmouth War Memorial on East Main at Middle Road.

Naval Station Newport commemorated Veterans Day with a concert by Navy Band Northeast's Showband last Sunday at Spruance Hall, Naval War College; and an open house at Pier One on Monday. About 200 people walked the 1,500 foot pier throughout the day to get a close up view of the decommissioned aircraft carriers Saratoga and Forrestal.

placed a wreath at the brow of the aircraft carrier at 11 a.m.

Association member Steve Squadrilli of Plainville, Mass., said the ceremony mainly remembers the 134 Sailors who were lost in 1967 when ord-

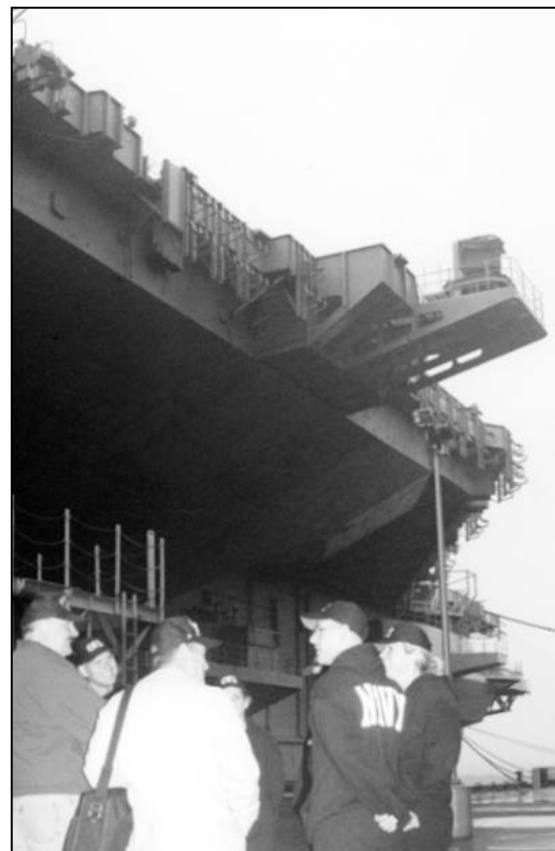

Guest speaker was Maj. Stephen M. Carty, Operations and Intelligence Officer for the 103rd Field Artillery Brigade of the R.I. Army National Guard.

Chaplain (Maj.) Jeff Jenks, Army chaplain for the 103rd

Artillery Brigade, gave the invocation and benediction.

Members of the Artillery Company of Newport were dressed in period uniforms from all wars. Clergymen, city officials, state legislators and the Rogers High School ROTC attended.

Containers were available at the ceremony for the deposit of worn, tattered or unserviceable U.S. flags. The flags will be retired and properly disposed of at an appropriate flag retirement ceremony later.

nance and jet fuel exploded when the ship was steaming to Vietnam.

"A rocket discharged and hit the fuel tanks of a jet on the flight deck," he said. "Incidentally, it was John McCain's plane. Then the burning fuel poured down through the decks like a waterfall, killing Sailors in their berths."

Forrestal veteran Art Moitoza of Middletown said Navy damage control training films use the tragedy to illustrate the wrong way to fight a shipboard fire.

In Newport, the United Veterans Council of Newport County and the Newport VFW sponsored the largest ceremony of the day inside City Hall.

Middletown VFW Post 4487 held wreath-laying ceremonies at Middletown Town Hall on East Main Road at 11 a.m.; and Portsmouth American Legion Post 18 gathered again at Portsmouth Town Hall on Monday afternoon for similar ceremonies.

The stone tower at Miantonomi Memorial Park on Hillside Avenue, Newport, was open to the public Monday. The 30-acre park is dedicated to Newport native sons who died in World War I.

Although the 100-foot stone tower offers a commanding view of Narragansett Bay on a clear day, overcast skies and rain reduced visibility.

MIDDLETOWN—Gaudet Middle School brought home the meaning of the sacrifices by military veterans to its young students during a Veterans Day ceremony, Nov. 8.

Gaudet is unique in that 30 percent of its students come from military families. It was to these families and the Navy mentor volunteers in partnership which the program was dedicated.

The ceremony began with a moment of silence followed by the posting of the colors.

The color bearers were representatives from Boy Scout Troops 77 and 82. Navy Band Northeast's Brass Quintet played the National Anthem followed by members of the Grade 7 chorus singing America. Principal Vincent Giuliano spoke of the importance of military people and their role in defending our country.

Erica Biron, spoke of the places she was stationed and the things she has done in the military.

Newport American Legionnaire Edmund Lopes, who was a private first class in World War II, spoke about his involvement in the D-Day Invasion and his recent trip back to Normandy.

A short movie was shown on Lopes' trip and what his regiment did during the Second World War.

"It's good we honor the veterans," Mary O'Brien, 10, said after the presentation.

Another Gaudet student, Cameron Dubreuil, 10, said, "I really feel like I learned about Veterans Day today."

Matthew Sullivan, 11, said he never realized the importance of the military before; and Sam Regan, 10, said he learned about WWII from a movie.

Handle food properly for safe Thanksgiving

The improper handling, preparation and cooking of Thanksgiving turkeys is a source of bacteria and potential food poisoning for families who gather this holiday season, the Navy Occupational Safety and Health office warns.

Dan Lannan, NAVOSH education specialist, Naval Station Newport, offers the following advice:

Food Handling and Preparation:

- Wash your hands thoroughly before and after preparing any food product.

- Never thaw meat or poultry at room temperature. When thawing a frozen turkey, either keep it refrigerated on a tray, under cold running water, or in the microwave. When thawing in a microwave, finish cooking in a conventional oven immediately.

- Keep two cutting boards handy — one for preparing raw meat, poultry and fish, and the other for cutting cooked food

POINT BLANK — Lt. Brian Rosemark, former member of the U.S. Armed Forces All-Star Volleyball Team, spikes a ball over the net at Gym 109.

All-star volleyball player faced best military teams

By LT. DANIEL KLEIBOEMER

Naval Science Institute

Armed with a mere volleyball, Lt. Brian Rosemark actually had the whole world in his hands.

Rosemark, a weapons instructor at Naval Science Institute (NSI), recently enjoyed a stint on the U.S. Armed Forces All-Star Volleyball Team, which traveled to Constanta, Romania, to compete against international military teams in the Conseil International du Sports Militaire championship (CISM) from Sept. 20 to Oct. 2.

'We all had an amazing experience in Romania. It was an experience that will last a lifetime.'

—Lt. Rosemark

as a member of the Navy volleyball team. Out of the 13-member Navy team, Rosemark was one of only three selected to the 12-member All Armed Forces squad.

"It was a real honor to be selected," Rosemark said.

Rosemark has faced tough competition before. In 2000, he and the rest of his Navy volleyball teammates took on other teams from U.S. military ranks at Camp Lejuene, N. C., where the team finished 5-1 and secured a gold medal.

Rosemark has been setting up his volleyball career since his high school days in Glenview, Ill. He bumped up the level of competition at the Naval Academy as a standout member of its club volleyball team until he received his commission in May 1997.

The opportunity to hit the court again, this time in world competition, was a welcome one for Rosemark. Unfortunately, the team fared poorly in Romania.

"We all had an amazing experience in Romania," he said. "It was an experience that will last a lifetime."

This year, the United States faced teams from Brazil, Korea, Netherlands, Canada, Turkey, Cyprus, and the host nation of Romania. Many of the teams sported national and Olympic level athletes.

Rosemark earned his all-star spot through competition at the U.S. Armed Forces Sports Championships in Millington, Tenn., and preparing salads. After using utensils or cutting boards for raw food preparation or handling, thoroughly wash these items before using them for the preparation or handling of any other food.

• When preparing eggnog, Hollandaise sauce, Caesar-salad dressing or other recipes that call for raw or undercooked eggs, use a pasteurized egg product instead of regular eggs.

Turkey tips

• Never cook a stuffed turkey or chicken in a microwave oven. Microwave cooking does not distribute heat evenly and can leave cold pockets inside the poultry.

• Use a cooking thermometer to determine if the turkey is fully cooked. The meat should reach 180 degrees Fahrenheit, and if the bird is stuffed, the stuffing must reach at least 165 degrees Fahrenheit.

• If a fully-cooked turkey is purchased, it should be picked up hot and brought home for immediate consumption.

After the feast

• Do not allow any cooked food to sit out at room temperature for more than two hours. Leftovers should be refrigerated promptly after the meal. Freeze leftovers that won't be eaten within a few days. It's also a good idea to divide large amounts of leftovers into smaller portions for quick chilling. Leftover meat stored in the refrigerator should be eaten within three to four days.

• Reheat leftovers to 165 degrees throughout or until steaming hot. Soups, sauces and gravies should be brought to a rolling boil for at least one minute.

• Never taste leftover food that looks or smells strange. When in doubt, throw it out!

Birthday

The Marine birthday cake was cut by the youngest corpsman attending, Hospitalman Travis J. Hess, and the oldest, Master Chief Hospital Corpsman Edward E. Elliott, the Senior Enlisted adviser on the NACC Newport staff.

Closing remarks were given by Capt. Andre M. Greedan, Deputy, NACC, Newport, followed by Anchors Aweigh and the Marine Corps Hymn by Navy Band Northeast.

The ceremony ended with a benediction by Chaplain Targonski.

Cake was served to the assembled guests and dignitaries, who included Capt. Francis R. MacMahon, Commanding Officer, Naval Health Care New England.

The Newport area Marine Corps community gathered Saturday night for the 227th Marine Corp Ball at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Newport. Col. John Taska, Marine Corps adviser for Naval Warfare Studies at the Naval War College was the guest speaker.

Highlights of the evening included the Marine Corps Hymn played by The Leatherneck Pipers, bagpipers comprised of retired Marines, a sword detail and a ceremonial birthday cake cutting by the oldest and youngest Marine attending.

Music for the evening was provided by Navy Band Northeast.

Chaplain Basic Course graduates 13 officers

By JOY CHRISTMAS

NAVSTA Public Affairs Staff

The Naval Chaplains School held graduation ceremonies on Nov. 12 for Chaplain Basic Course Class B02030 at Brett Hall at Naval Station Newport. Col. Neil Hartenstein, Marine Corps adviser at the Naval War College, was the guest speaker.

The six weeks of intense instruction for the 13 new chaplains served as indoctrination into the structure of the military organization and render assistance in employing their professional skills as clergy within the pluralistic context of the Sea Services.

Instruction encompassed basic officer leadership training, with situational application of management, communication and problem-solving skills, personnel issues; amphibious/expeditionary training; and empowerment and ministry skills.

The graduates of Chaplains School Basic Course B02030 are:

Lt. j.g. Doyle S. Adams, CHC, USNR

Lt. j.g. Mark E. Allison, CHC, USNR

Lt. Edward D. Bass, CHC, USNR

Lt. Marvin G. Borger, CHC, USNR

Lt. James A. Johnson Jr., CHC, USNR

Lt. j.g. Jay J. Kersten, CHC, USNR

Lt. Daniel Klender, CHC, USNR

Lt. Gordon J. Klingenschmitt, CHC, USNR

Lt. j.g. Kyu Lee, CHC, USNR

Lt. j.g. Kurt A. Michaelis, CHC, USNR

Lt. j.g. Joseph Rejuney, CHC, USNR

Lt. Richard A. Townes Jr., CHC, USNR

Lt. Eugene Wozniak, CHC, USNR.

Destroyer Preble joins U.S. Fleet

BOSTON (NNS) — The U.S. Navy commissioned the Arleigh Burke-class guided-missile destroyer PCU Preble (DDG 88) last Saturday during a 10 a.m. ceremony at the World Trade Center Pier in Boston.

The ship is named in honor of Commodore Edward Preble, a pioneer in U.S. naval and merchant marine service, who was born Aug. 15, 1761, at Falmouth, Eastern Mass., now Portland, Maine. Five previous ships have borne the name Preble.

Navy-wide news

The Preble visited Pier Two,

Naval Station Newport, last month.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., gave the principal address. Connie Clark, wife of Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Vern Clark, is the ship's sponsor. In the time-honored Navy tradition, Clark gave the order to "man our ship and bring her to life!"

Cmdr. Timothy Batzler of Baltimore, and a 1983 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, is the commanding officer of the ship. It will be homeported in San Diego.

Navy christens destroyer Chafee

BATH, Maine (NNS) — The newest Arleigh Burke-class guided-missile destroyer, PCU Chafee (DDG 90), was christened Nov. 11 during a ceremony at Bath Iron Works, Bath, Maine.

The ship honors the late John Hubbard Chafee of Providence, R.I. Chafee distinguished himself as a U.S. senator, Navy secretary, Rhode Island governor, and a Marine — with service as both an enlisted man and commissioned officer.

Sen. John Warner, R-Va., delivered the ceremony's principal address. Serving as co-sponsors for the ship were Virginia Chafee, wife of the ship's namesake, and Diane Blair, wife of retired Adm. Dennis C. Blair, former Commander, U.S. Pacific Cmdr. John W. Ailes of New London, Conn., is the prospective commanding officer of Chafee with a crew of approximately 30 officers and 355 enlisted.

The ship's keel was laid April 2001 and is scheduled to be commissioned at Pier Two,

Naval Station Newport, R.I., in 2003.

DFAS linked online to Leave, Earnings

GAETA, Italy (NNS) — Defense Financial and Accounting Service (DFAS) officials have simplified the way Sailors access their Leave and Earnings Statements (LES) online.

Now, instead of accessing LES's through Employee/Member Self Service (E/MSS), there is a new link on the DFAS website.

Sailors now just have to click on the Leave and Earnings Statement link, then the myPay link to view their LES. Once the myPay screen loads, Sailors can click on "Enter Here," then enter their ID and pin number.

"MyPay essentially is the same except for a few of the links," said Lt. j.g. Baker Turner, USS La Salle's (AGF 3) disbursing officer.

They can go online 24 hours a day, seven days a week." For related news, visit the Commander 6th Fleet Navy NewsStand page at www.news.navy.mil/local/c6f.
